Be it here known that those persons in violation of the schedule will be dealt with harshly, disregarding any plea for mercy. To them will fall the most menial tasks and, upon full and adequate completion they shall be roundly abused for failure in complete defiance of reality, good sense and good taste. We have feathers and we're not afraid to use them.

Announcements

Archery

The Kingdom of Esperance recently acquired new archery targets that, happily, are far easier to transport than the usual hay bales. Setting them up required a minor feat of engineering but regardless of our mechanical aptitude we now have a wonderful pair of portable targets.

Sir Jamie the Red was kind enough to give them his blessing by place the first hole in both targets (Apparently his aim was not what it usually is as the first arrow hit one target but the other missed his target completely and struck the wrong target).

The huntsman list was won by Robert Kavanagh with a 48 closely followed by Sir Jamie and Sir Ce'Wolf with 45 and Master Gil with 43. Sqr. Cagar, despite trying to strike the strange creature that had perched upon a target (missing completely) managed by luck to win the bowman list.

Arts

Dame Willow acheived a tournament win with a painting (although in truth my mind fails me as it was not a painting but still an excellent work of art). Special recognition was made of the fact that this win qualifies her for a new level of Knighthood in the arts.

Combat

The Shinai tournament was run as a knight's list in the Highlander fashion. Sir Jamie the Red came out ahead in this tournament although some of the bouts were neck and neck.

Although we lacked enough suits to have a steel tournament we did some demo combat and Sir Jamie the Red (whom we believe to be certifiable) qualified (although we're not sure if he will certificate) Jorath for steel combat.
